Dedication

Many are the words that could describe the person to whom we dedicate this edition of the PHOENIX. Among them would certainly be Mischievous, for this person definitely has that quality of being in the midst of uproar at any given time . . .

Responsiveness is another trait, for students can depend upon this person's listening to their problems and striving to meet their needs . . .

Through this active involvement with people, this person is Respected by both faculty and student body . . .

Through the charm of his

Amiable personality, the community of Denton is brought into a renewed spirit of co-operation with the school . . .

And by his example, he shows us why we should feel

Pride in ourselves, our school and our community . . .

For his outstanding contribution to our school in the short time he has been with us, the Senior Class proudly dedicates this edition of the PHOENIX to our Principal, MR. PHILIP RAPP!

The Junior and Sophomore girls (in red) defeated the Senior and Freshmen girls (in white) by a score of 36 to 6; however, the climax of the game was the pileup on one of the referees, Mr. Rapp, the new principal.

Cheerleader — Faculty — Alumni Games Provide an Evening of Fun

The scores are not important; in fact, few remember who won. The important thing was fun for school and community as the cheerleaders and the men of the faculty met teams composed of alumni, visitors, or anyone who could be recruited for the evening. The cheerleaders were reinforced by two "strangers"; under their wigs and make-up were Kirby Matthews and Tim Fritts. In the men's game, one of the benchwarmers got a little over-heated and joined in the fray when he realized that a player on the opposing team was not being guarded. After all, who cared that there was an extra player on the floor when even the referees were not always sure whose side they were on!

PHOENIX Has Small but Dedicated Staff

In the words of Sir Winston Churchill, "Never . . . have so many owed so much to so few," Denton's Senior Class is small. This means that extra-curricular leadership is the responsibility of a few students. But these few could not get the work done apart from the work of many behind the scenes who contributed valuable time to sell ads, take up money for yearbook subscriptions, and help in many other ways. The staff gets most of the credit like generals in an army, but the volunteer helpers, like the foot-soldiers, make the victory possible.

Bicentennial — Theme of BETA CLUB Initiation

Since this was our Bicentennial year, the Beta Club used the Bicentennial theme for initiating their 10 new members: Jan Craven, Virginia Johnson, Janice Hatley, Lisa Hinesley, Tammy Newsom, Orion Rogers, Tammy Allen, Denese Morris, Tami Chappell, and Rosalie Duty.

After being tapped in, the new members were instructed to write a five page theme on their character, and then one day dress in the costume of their historic person. Some characters were those of Ben Franklin, Pocohontas, Clara Barton, and dear ole Abe Lincoln.

It proved to be very much fun and caused everyone to again be remindful of our nation's 200th birthday.

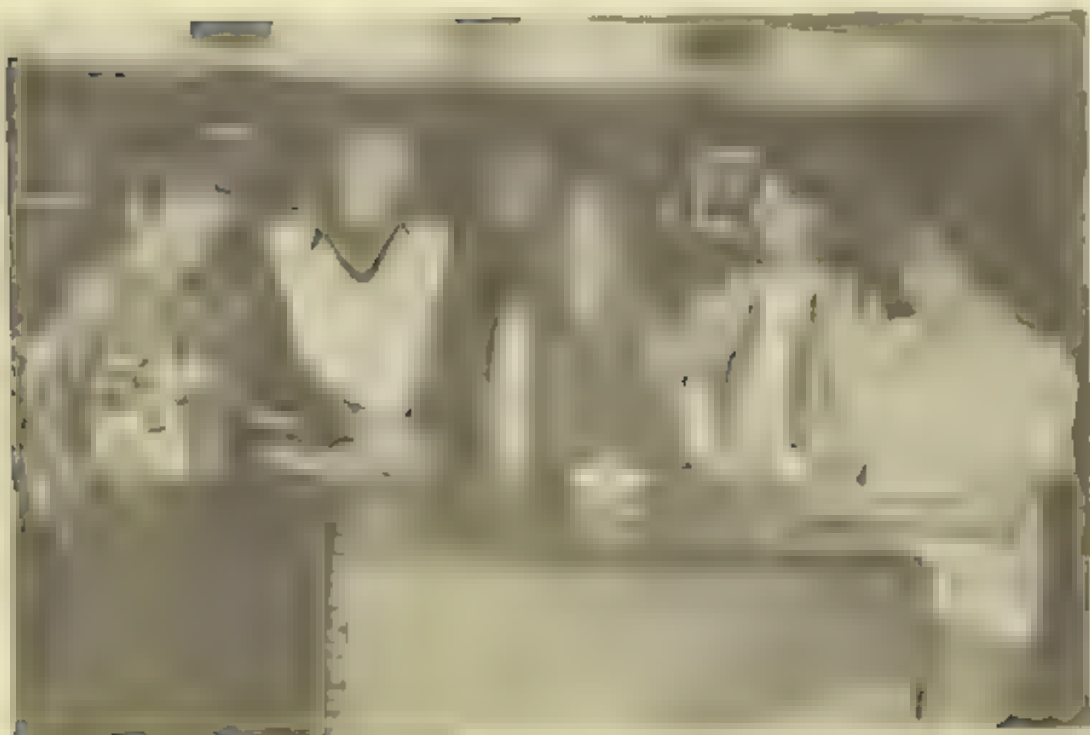

At the annual Fall Festival, sponsored by the P.T.A., the Denton High Beta Club members lent a helping hand. They were in charge of the Bean Bag Toss at the Haunted House. Many children were excited about taking their chances at tossing the bean bags and winning. In the meantime, others were being scared "out of their wits" by Dracula and Frankenstein in the Haunted House.

The clown with his imaginary dog and Santa with presents made an exciting visit to the Beta Club annual Christmas party for the retarded children and young people in the community.

Future Farmers of America

THE FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA, a national organization of young men, is one of the largest and most influential of the youth organizations in the United States. It was founded in 1916 and has since that time grown to a membership of over 1,000,000 members in more than 100 countries. The organization is dedicated to the promotion of agriculture and the betterment of the rural community. Its members are engaged in a wide variety of activities, including the raising of livestock, the growing of crops, and the operation of farm machinery. The organization also provides a wide range of educational and recreational opportunities for its members, and it is a leading force in the promotion of rural development and the improvement of the lives of the people of the countryside.

THE FIRST 200 YEARS

A knowledge of American history is an invitation to experience the accomplishment, drama, tragedy and hope of an infant nation struggling to grow up. Sturdy, determined pioneers hacked away at the edges of a raw continent and, with blunders and achievements alike, modeled a country with a spirited nature and a united commitment to individual liberty for every one of its citizens. Americans, great and not so great, have given us a heritage to carry on and improve upon. Farmers and soldiers, industrialists and merchants, dreamers and leaders, are all there in two centuries of progress.

But the maturing isn't finished. You'll find the boundaries of growth as endless today as when our forefathers first envisioned them. You can seek out your own destiny with the wisdom and judgement which comes with re-creation of the past. Your knowledge, dreams and industry will carry on through many more centuries of living history.

IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776.

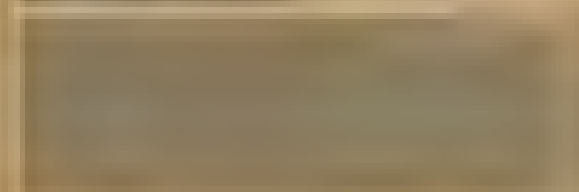

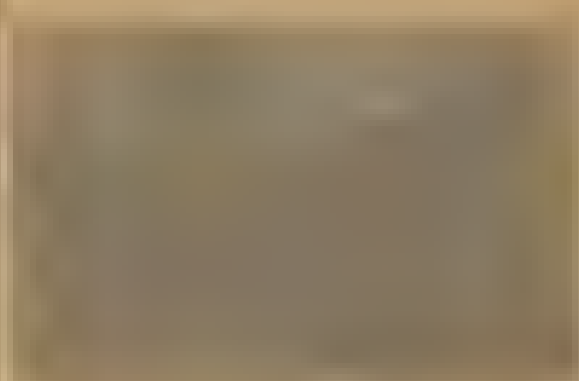

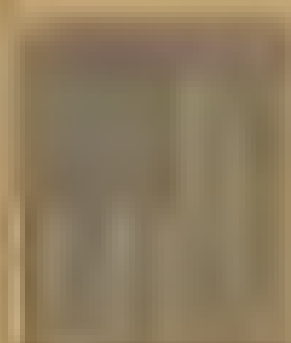

The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America.

Everything that is right or reasonable pleads for separation. The blood of the slain, the weeping voice of nature cries, 'tis time to part.' — Thomas Paine

THE CHANGING NATION

Ownership of land had been just a dream to most of the colonists from feudal England. With the great expanse of cheap land opening up in the West, the dream became reality.

The Louisiana Purchase of 1803 opened the first sizable frontier in the Midwest, but the nation was not ready for it yet. It took a growing market in the East, where land was getting high-priced and scarce, and development of good transportation, to really start the frontier movement.

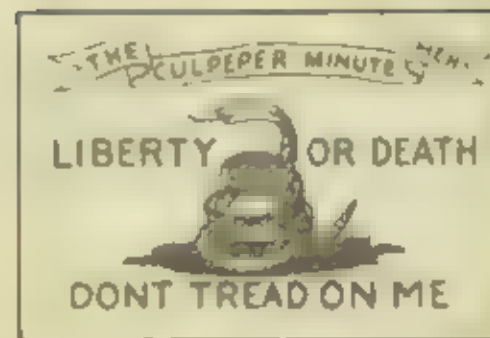

The Gold Rush caused hordes of settlers to take various routes to the Pacific Coast and its yellow riches. The railroads brought farmers and ranchers, along with the miners, who decided to stop all along the routes and build their homes. Railroads were instrumental in the quick civilization of the West, bringing people in numbers so large that the resentful Indians were finally pushed back into unwanted and infertile areas.

America became a haven for immigrants from every nation as freedom beckoned them to the teeming cities of the East, the plains, and the rich west coast farmlands. Sick of the Civil War and with their own lands divided up and lost, many Southerners set out to "begin again" in the virgin territories. "Westering" soon became the national tradition as North and South moved together toward a new life. Americanism was advanced socially by the hard-working, bare-fisted types who settled the frontiers.

NECESSITY IS THE MOTHER OF ...

Without realizing it, England instilled in the colonists the individual purpose and ingenuity that necessity breeds. With trade goods cut to a minimum, determined young leaders of the time set out to find ways of surviving without support from the Mother Country.

Agricultural methods and machines and labor saving devices were designed by our forefathers. As frontiers opened, Yankee genius had to conquer natural barriers in the wild new country, so suspension bridges were invented and methods of transportation were perfected for the purpose of opening the untamed areas. Later they sought to section off the land with the revolutionary and controversial invention — barbed wire.

Cooper's 1-horsepower Tom Thumb train in 1830 and later, automobiles like the first Model T, and the 4 horsepower airplane, became American modes of travel from city to city and coast to coast.

Americans knew that the fertile lands of this nation would produce unequalled harvests if machines were designed to take over for man. They knew also that trade routes were difficult to travel and manufacturing would have to be done close to home. The cotton gin, textile looms, drill presses and a reaper which could cut six times as much grain as a hand scythe were some of the tools invented.

Protection for themselves and for their young country prodded inventors like Eli Whitney to perfect firearms and others to work on plans for the first submarine. Young inventors like Alexander Graham Bell and Thomas Edison (called the nation's most valuable citizen) visualized machines that would light the country and open up communication with those in the far corners of the nation. The telephone, telegraph, phonograph and the first light bulb were discovered in the late 1800's and early twentieth century. This American way of doing for oneself inspired many to become inventors in their own right. Some sought to save labor and mass-produce for profit while others envisioned not only riches but excitement and adventure as they discovered ways to defy nature.

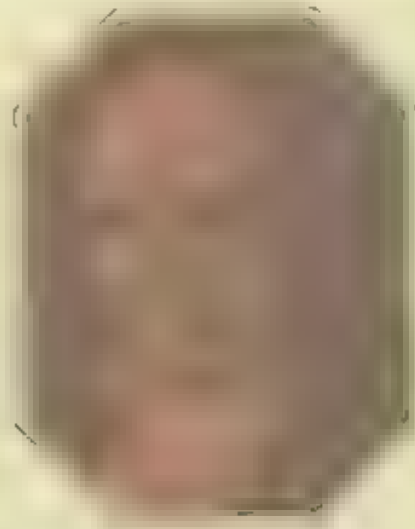

Throughout the past 200 years the American mind has been unleashed to take whatever paths necessary to fulfill the needs. In the last half-century, the pace of discovery has been overwhelming and inventions for the taming of the universe lie in the grasp of America while the habit of 'finding a way' is ingrained in its people. The seeds of industrial America were sown by these inventors resulting in today's mechanized society.

A new-comer to Denton High and teaching Agriculture is Mr. Ronald Kepley. He also sponsors the FFA.

Before coming here, he taught at North Davidson Junior High for three years.

Mr. Kepley says, "I have really enjoyed these few weeks at Denton. At a small school you have an opportunity to know the students on a personal basis." In commenting on his impressions of Denton, Mr. Kepley added: "The students are friendly, and many show a desire to learn."

Mr. Kepley says that he became a teacher because "I was interested in helping young students to develop into productive young adults."

Hunting, fishing, and watching North Carolina State University's (his alma mater) basketball games are Mr. Kepley's hobbies.

We have a teacher in our school who says, "I got 'roped' into it when there was a teacher shortage and found I dearly loved working with students and seeing their growth." Mrs. Helen Loftin graduated from UNC-Greensboro and previously taught at Grimsley Senior High, Greensboro.

Most Faculty Members Agree Small Schools Have Many Advantages

Our Home Economics and Family Life Education teacher, Mrs. Loftin says she believes "There is a closeness in a small school and a personal concern that isn't found in the large schools."

Sponsoring the FHA Club, Mrs. Loftin leads the girls in many activities, including attending rallies, entertaining their mothers at an annual Mother-Daughter Banquet, and repairing broken toys for distribution at Christmas.

In her spare time (if any), Mrs. Loftin enjoys working with flowers, shrubs, and any type of arts and crafts, sewing and music.

A graduate of Meredith College, Mrs. Frances Baker also attended Wake Forest University and UNC-Chapel Hill. Before Denton, she taught at Snow Hill High School, Southport High School, and Apex High School. When asked why she decided to become a teacher, she answered, "As early as I can remember, I wanted to become a teacher. Sunday afternoons found me teaching my dolls the Sunday School lesson. When I was a child in elementary school, playground periods were spent playing school' with me often the teacher."

Mrs. Baker is teaching English I, but her primary job is that of Media Specialist; from November through January much of her time is spent with the annual staff. Her other duties include serving as Senior Class sponsor.

When asked her views on a small school, she replied, "I like the personal contacts with students, and knowing them as individuals. I feel that knowing the home situations makes for a better understanding of students and any problems they might have. This would not be possible in a large school. To me, this personal contact off-sets any disadvantages of a small school."

Mrs. Baker's interests outside of school include traveling, needlepoint, reading, and photography. "I have always enjoyed my work with students, and whenever I don't, I plan to quit! A job should be something to enjoy-not just a job or drudgery."

Mrs. Marie Lanier, a graduate of UNC-Greensboro, teaches Advanced Biology, Physical Science, and General Biology.

Teaching here since 1962, Mrs. Lanier says, "The smallness gives everyone an opportunity to take part in school activities." She also commented that "The teachers know their students better than in large high schools."

Her extra-curricular activities include sponsoring the Junior Class and supervising the basketball concession stands. Vegetable and flower gardening are Mrs. Lanier's hobbies. Baseball and basketball are also favorite past-times. She stated that she enjoys being with her family most of all.

Mrs. Debbie Morris attended UNC-Greensboro and graduated from UNC-Charlotte. One and a half years after starting her teaching career at Southwest Randolph, she came to Denton.

When asked why she liked or disliked a small school, she replied, "I like the friendly, easy going atmosphere of a small school. I believe we have fewer social problems. I think the greatest problem in a small school is the large amount of gossip that's perpetrated by students and adults."

Mrs. Morris teaches English I, English II, and Sociology. She is also a Junior Class sponsor, and is in charge of instructional supplies.

Her hobbies are reading, cooking, and tole painting.

Mr. Wayne Miller, a graduate of UNC-Chapel Hill (A.B. in Education) and UNC-Charlotte (M.Ed. in Guidance and Counseling), has spent all seventeen years of his teaching career at Denton High.

When asked why he decided to become a teacher, Mr. Miller said, "I admired most of my teachers throughout my pre-college years and felt that teaching would be an exciting and worthwhile career. I have remained in teaching because I have developed a genuine love for young people and feel that the opportunities offered by this profession for understanding and respect between students and teachers makes this career rewarding."

He commented concerning a small school: "Having attended both large and small high schools, I can say with no reservations that I prefer the small. The friendly atmosphere and the almost family-type relationships among students and faculty far outweigh some of the advantages of the large school. The student receives more individual attention, and he has more opportunity to take an active part in extra-curricular activities. While courses offered in our school are somewhat limited, we, nevertheless, are able to offer most courses students want or need.

Serving as Guidance Counselor, teaching an art class, and helping sponsor the Senior Class keep him very busy. However, he still finds time "to sketch with pencil and charcoal, paint with acrylics, hunt, play basketball, read novels, work cross-word puzzles, watch TV when there are good programs, and practice on my autoharp."

Denton has a well schooled vice-principal/teacher who graduated from High Point College and has done graduate study at Appalachian, East Carolina, UNC-Chapel Hill, and UNC-Charlotte. The mystery man is . . . Mr. Jerry Koontz, ("Captain").

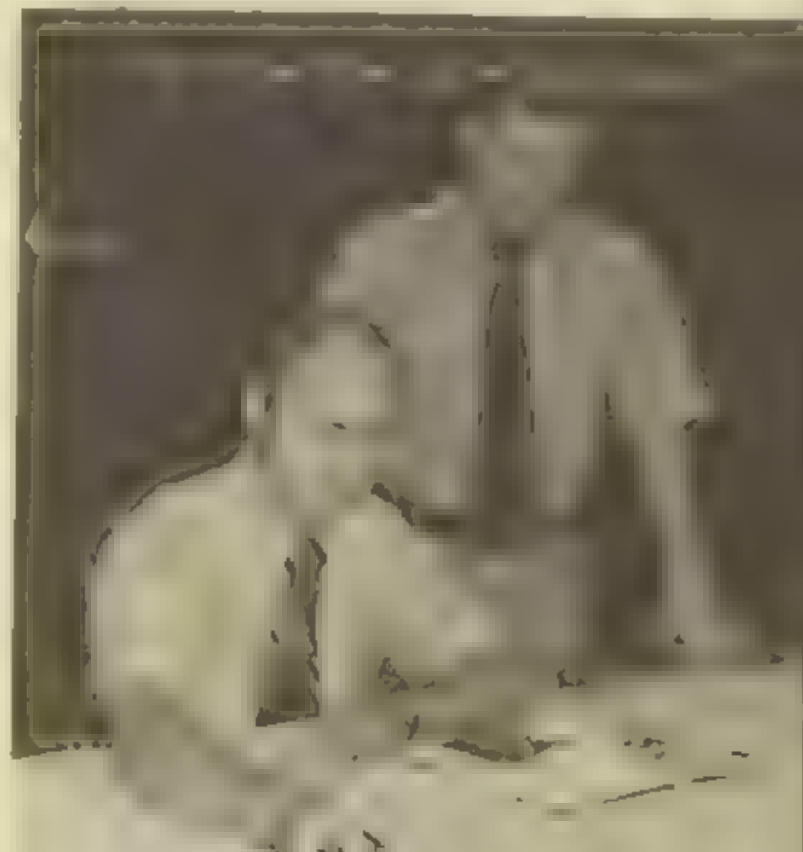

All fourteen years of Mr. Koontz's teaching experience has been at "Good ole DHS."

One of the factors determining his decision to become a teacher was the influence of his own teachers.

Mr. Koontz likes teaching in a small school because there is a "better relationship with students, smaller classes (individual attention) and a better learning environment."

Teaching Advanced as well as Freshman Physical Education, World History, and U.S. History, he is also sponsor for the Student Council and is in charge of buses and textbooks.

Mr. Koontz's hobbies are hunting and guns. His philosophy of life is "Faith is the word" when things don't go your way."

Faculty Exhibits Wide Range of Avocations, Interests in Idle Hours

Teaching General Math, Algebra I, and Consumer Math is Mr. Louis Southern. A graduate of Appalachian State University, Mr. Southern enjoys playing golf and basketball, coaching Junior High basketball, and reading comic books. In addition to these activities, he is also assistant football coach and Pep Club sponsor. He likes teaching in Denton because "In a small school you know all the students; there seems to be fewer disciplinary problems," (Believe it or not!)

Mr. Ned Craver, fondly called by his students "Ned Pig," is a graduate of Pfeiffer College. He became a teacher because he enjoys working with high school age students. Mr. Craver came to Denton because he wanted to teach in a small school where he could get to know his students better. He has been known to say jokingly that the Peace Corps sent him to Denton because it is an "undeveloped country," but his actions disprove this statement.

Mr. Craver's busy schedule includes teaching Geometry, Advanced Math, Physics, Biology and Physical Science, as well as coaching Varsity football and Junior High girls basketball. His hobbies are photography and athletics of all types.

A graduate of Atlantic Christian College, Mrs. Sue Plaster teaches English I, English III and English IV. She is Sophomore Class sponsor and also Beta Club sponsor.

"Temporary insanity" is the term she used in saying why she decided to become a teacher. When asked what previous teaching experiences she had, she replied, "I don't wish to reveal my age."

Her views on a small school: "A small school doesn't offer the advantages of a large school as far as course offerings, instructional materials, etc. are concerned. But a greater percentage of students can participate in activities, and teachers and students get to know each other better."

Mrs. Plaster's hobbies include sewing and embroidery when she can find time away from her school duties, but her first real concern is her family.

Mr. Wayne Plaster attended Atlantic Christian College and University of East Carolina. His previous teaching experiences include one year in Nansemond County, Virginia; two years in Terrell County, and three years in Warren County, North Carolina.

When asked why he decided to become a teacher, he replied: "Because I love coaching and teaching sports."

Mr. Plaster teaches Advanced Physical Education, Freshman Girls and Boys Physical Education and World History.

He coaches both Girls' and Boys' Varsity Basketball teams, as well as Baseball. In addition to these activities, Mr. Plaster sponsors the Monogram Club and the American Patriotism Club.

Some of Mr. Plaster's hobbies and interests are cooking, reading and writing poetry, listening to good music, and vegetable gardening.

Mr. T. Adrian Neal, the Typing, Accounting, and World History teacher, is a graduate of High Point College, and University of North Carolina at Greensboro, and has done additional graduate work at Appalachian, East Carolina and Chapel Hill. Mr. Neal has previously taught one year in Guilford County, three years in Randolph County, and twenty years at Denton High.

Mr. Neal said he became a teacher "to fulfill my calling; to be of service to youth; I enjoy working with young people."

Mr. Neal likes Denton because he feels "A small high school has many advantages a larger school does not and cannot have. I like the feeling of closeness in helping students learn. Most students are cooperative and intelligent and respond to their opportunity better."

In addition to his other duties, Mr. Neal is Sophomore Class advisor, advisor of the DENTONIAN, NCAE building representative, County Chairman of the NCAE-PACE Committee.

Mr. Carlos Prado is a graduate of the University of Havana, Havana Masonic University, Havana Conservatory of Music, and High Point College.

He has previously taught at Central Davidson High School and Linwood Elementary School.

When asked his reason for becoming a teacher, Mr. Prado said, "I like to work with youngsters, see them become useful men and women; help them, in what little measure I can."

Mr. Prado likes a small school because there is "a greater rapport between students and teachers. I feel that in Denton School we are like a big family; we know each other and we feel for each other."

Mr. Prado teaches Band, Chorus, and Spanish. His other duties include taking the band to parades, having musical programs, and taking the Spanish classes to Foreign Language Festivals.

His hobbies and other interests include reading, listening to classical music, painting and photography.

Teaching Driver Education, or "Survival Science," is Mr. J. E. Sink. With a B.S. degree from High Point College and a M. Ed. degree from Duke University, Mr. Sink has also done post-graduate work at Wake Forest University.

When asked why he became a teacher, Mr. Sink replied, "I thought it would be a place where I could learn while I earned a living."

He enjoys teaching at Denton because the small size of the school and the community enables a teacher to get to know the students, his parents, brothers and sisters. Then, more concern can be shown in his help and interest in that student."

Mr. Sink spends much of his time with photography. He stated that, "In fact, my wife says that it is not a hobby, but a disease. No sooner do I get a new camera or lens than I hear of a better one that I want. I don't get very good trades either. By the way, does anyone want a set of Photography Encyclopedias? I also fish a lot and hunt a little, and would like to do some sailing this next year. Ask me about my last sailing adventure!"

Denton Curriculum Implements Davidson County School Philosophy

The Davidson County School System, of which Denton School is a part, seeks to offer a program that is beneficial to the physical, mental, cultural, and moral growth of all students, encouraging each student to develop every face of his life to the fullest so that he may become a citizen who will be able to cope positively with himself, with society, and with world cultures. To do this, Denton School offers a diversified instructional program commensurate with student needs, interests, and abilities which will prepare him for further education and/or training for employment.

Gerald Stanley Lee

Declaration of Independence

As I come to this last page and the last day of work on this yearbook, I have mixed emotions. I feel happiness that we have met all the deadlines on time and satisfaction that we have put our best thoughts and efforts into the planning and production of this book. There is a feeling of closeness with my co-workers that I have not felt before. I also feel sadness and emptiness because all of the work is done, and with the completion of the yearbook comes the reminder that twelve years of school will soon be over.

I want to express my appreciation to all those who have worked on the yearbook. I can only hope that all the students will like this year's book and that it will cause them to look back upon this year with happy feelings.
